The rising level of cyber-terrorism and corporate espionage originating from China is alarming. Both pose major threats to our national security and the intellectual property of American companies. I raised this issue with FBI Director Robert Mueller during an Appropriations subcommittee hearing this week. Director Mueller acknowledged the rise of Chinese espionage. I applaud Chairman Frank Wolf for asking the director for a private subcommittee briefing to explore the issue further.